U.S. in Flat Rejection of Chinese Demand

By BRUCE W. MUNN

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UP)—The United States firmly rejected today a Communist Chinese demand that round-table talks, including Russia, India and three other "non-belligerents," be substituted for the twosided Korean political conference plan approved by the United Nations last month.

The Chinese Reds yesterday turned down the assembly's approved setup for an across-the-board conference. They demanded that all Korean belligerents, plus Russia, India, Indonesia, Pakistan and Burma, be invited to participate in a roundtable parley and that the entire issue be reopened at the general assembly session about to begin.

The United States promptly announced it saw no reason to reopen the date, and indicated it would stand on the plan for the conference it engineered in conjunction with 14 other member countries whose troops fought in the Korean war.

A major tussle on whether the assembly should reconsider the conclusion it reached in a two-week special Korean session last month was expected to come later this week when the 60-nation group's powerful steering committee meets.

The 15-member committee makes recommendations on the adoption of the agenda and its findings usually are confirmed by the full assembly.

Goodwill Tour for Stock Show Set

The Third District Livestock Show Goodwill Tour Committee has everything lined up for a most successful promotional tour. Arrangements have been made for about 25 members of the Hope High School band to accompany the tour, which will visit Nashville, Prescott, Gurdon, Camden, Stephens, Magnolia, Waldo, Stamps, Lewisville, and back to Hope.

The Camden Chamber of Commerce is arranging for the noon meal, which will be eaten in Camden, and letters have been written to all the other cities on the tour.

The Nevada County Fair parade is scheduled for Wednesday, September 23, and it is probable that the Hope caravan will join in the Nevada County parade.

The Goodwill Tour Committee, composed of Dewey Baber, Chairman, C. C. Lewis, Herbert Burns, and Emil Kaden, are contacting every business house and any other individual that is a likely prospect to take a car, send a car, or just go on the Goodwill Tour. Chairman Baber reports that all members of the committee are working hard at the job that plans for the annual tour are shaping up just exactly on schedule and everything is looking good for a most successful operation.

Hempstead Cattle Owners Showing at Texarkana

Three Hempstead County Livestock owners are exhibiting their cattle at the Four States Show at Texarkana this week.

Johnny Brannon of Brannon-Spencer Farms is showing six Herefords produced by this Hempstead County Hereford farm.

Don Ray Brown of Spring Hill is exhibiting five registered Jerseys from his 4-H Club herd and two steers fed for the fat calf division. Don Ray is a senior in Hope High School.

J. B. Ellen of Hope is showing two steers fed for the fat calf division. J. B. is a student at Southern State College.

The three exhibitors are expecting to show their animals at the Third District Show and State Livestock Show.

The dairy animals will be judged on Wednesday and the beef animals on Thursday.

Baptist Minister Dies in Ft. Smith

FORT SMITH The Rev. B. V. Ferguson, former president of the Arkansas Baptist State convention, died at his home here this morning.

The 70-year-old retired minister was pastor of Fort Smith's First Baptist Church for 33 years until poor health forced him to resign three years ago.

During the Rev. Mr. Ferguson's pastorate, the church grew from 500 to more than 4,000 members. He was pastor of a church in West Duran, N. C., before coming to Fort Smith.

Fulton Man Gives Land on Little River to Scouts

C. H. Wilson of Fulton has given the Caddo Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, a tract of land with about 180 ft. of water front on Little River. The deed to the property will include approximately one acre with privileges to use surrounding land for nature trails and hiking.

The new camp site will be used by Explorers (Scouts 14 years up) for fishing trips and boating and later as a termination point for Little River float trips. The site will be used by the Boy Scouts as a Second Class and First Class Camp and also for week-end camping and camp-orees.

Mr. Wilson, Ralph Johnson and two Hope Scouts, Larry Martin and Butch Graham looked the site over Saturday and marked the area to be deeded to the Scouts.

The camping program of the Caddo Area accounts for a large part of the annual council budget. The Executive Board of the Council has not yet acted upon this grant of land. Members of the Board from this district, Percy Woods, are Claude Byrd, Clifford Franks, Sylvette Burke, and Elmer Brown of Hope, Donald Nunn of Stamps, Louis Graves of Nashville and John Coker of Bradley.

Yanks Refusing Repatriation to Be Transferred

By WILLIAM MILLER

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UP)—An unofficial Communist spokesman said today that some American prisoners who refuse to go home are now in nearby Kaesong awaiting transfer to the custody of Indian troops in the neutral zone.

He reported that others who had said they would remain with the Communists already have been repatriated. He said fellow soldiers induced them to change their minds, and that as the result they were among the prisoners freed in "Operation Big Switch."

The spokesman was Wilfred Burchett, Australian-born correspondent for the Paris Communist newspaper L'Humanite.

Burchett said he could not say how many Americans still refuse repatriation. It has been estimated that the number is between 20 and 30, out of a total of 300 to 400 Allied prisoners still in Red hands who refuse to return home.

Burchett had said earlier today that some of these United Nations prisoners had decided to go home after all.

Later he explained that during the big exchange of prisoners some Americans got as far as nearby Kaesong, the Red repatriation center, and then wavered and decided to stay with the Communists.

Some of them to go home, Burchett said.

2 Hempstead Wildcat Wells Abandoned

Two Hempstead County wildcat oil tests have been abandoned outright, but one has opened up new possibilities.

The Olan test has been plugged at 2,400 feet and the rigging moved out. At the Gunter No. 1, near Washington, drillers have quit at 4,280, the deepest test in the county according to formations. In fact the test was 1,500 or more feet deeper than it was expected could be drilled in the area and this may result in several other tests going down.

The Falcon Field recorded three producers this week and three new. Although an official gauge was not made, H. M. Mills' Mrs. E. W. locations were staked immediately. Russell, et al No. 1, in SE NW NW 8-15S-22W, was estimated to be good for several hundred barrels of 26 gravity crude a day. Perforations were in the Tokio formation from 2,629-52 feet.

Atkins and Pannell have reported two producers and locations for three new wells in the same section. The Russell No. 1 in NE NW SW pumped 42 barrels 16 gravity oil through open hole at 1,610 and the Russell No. 2, in SE NW SW made 40 barrels a day in 14 gravity crude from 1,615 feet. The three new starts are all on the Russell field, the E-1, B-2 and B-3.

In the Irma Field, Jones and O'Brien, Incorporated, are rigging up pumping unit to test the Tom Jackson No. 1, in SE SW SW 1-13S-20W after perforating at 2,964-72, and have location for the J. D. Reynolds No. 2, in SE SE SW of the same section, an offset.

The Eldorado mine, at Radium City or Great Bear Lake in the Canadian sub-Arctic, is said to be the world's greatest producer of radium, mining and refining five grams a month.

Warns Public About Forest Fire Danger

LITTLE ROCK (UP) State forestry and parks commission warned today that an explosive situation against exists in Arkansas woodlands because of dry weather and high winds.

Commission Director Fred Lang said 41 fires burned over 602 acres during the three-day period, Friday, Saturday and Sunday. "This was more than the total for the entire previous week."

Lang said that fires have occurred during "class four" days, the worst possible wind classification.

"If the winds get much higher say 20 miles an hour — it will really touch things off," Lang said.

Scientists Vision Delay of Seasons

By FRANK CAREY

MADISON, Wis. (UP)—Scientists are planning to explore the possibilities of chemically speeding springtime and delaying winter as far as crops are concerned.

This was made known Sunday at a conference of some of the world's outstanding experts on solar energy already available to agriculture—and also to tap a virtually wished bounty of solar radiation as a means of supplying useful heat and power for homes and industry.

The idea of the chemical "crop season extension" would be (1) to hasten the opening of planting season a couple of weeks by spreading chemicals on the snow or frost-covered ground to promote melting, and (2) chemically treating the ground during growing season so as to absorb enough solar heat to delay Jack Frost's attacks for another couple of weeks at season's end.

But scientists told reporters at a news conference in connection with the meeting that, while the objective is one justifying intensive research, the problem will be to find chemicals that would trap the sun's energy—and release it under controllable conditions.

Prisons Take Kill the Ump Literally

LAGERSTOWN, Md. (UP)—A riotous outbreak which followed the bust-up of a softball game put 11 inmates of the Maryland reformatory for Males in solitary confinement today.

In one way or another, more than 100 young prisoners were involved in the destructive binge which started last night, was subdued and then broke out again early this morning.

The first outbreak involved 63 inmates just around bedtime. Guards, state police and county officers quitted them with tear gas, fire hoses and stern admonitions.

But not until most of the furniture, windows and lighting fixtures in two recreation rooms were ruined.

A second group started a flap up this morning but the men soon were put under control.

Superintendent Henry R. Raymond, flabbergasted at the disturbances, said the cause was "an umpire's decision in a ball game."

Soldier Wants to Wed Arkansas Girl

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—A Missouri soldier who recently was repatriated from a prison camp in Korea apparently had a change of heart about proposing marriage when he stepped off a ship in San Francisco.

Pfc. Roy L. Thomson of St. Louis, hurried off a Navy transport returning repatriated prisoners of war and rushed for the nearest telephone booth.

He asked the operator to get him his "girl friend"—Miss Mary Agnes Mills, about 19, of Little Rock.

"If she isn't married, I'm going to ask her to marry me," Thompson said.

IT'LL BE A LONG TIME — Jerry Levenson of Chicago, Ill., finally winds up in court to answer 74 traffic violations which police say he has ignored for three years. The citations included 20 for speeding, one for reckless driving and 53 lesser violations. Deputy Bailiff Teddy Mazola, right, holds the warrants. Levenson was fined more than $5000 and was sent to jail when he was unable to pay. Should the court decide to charge time for money, Mazola could technically spend nearly ten years in jail.

Commies Hint Indochina Truce Possible

TOKYO (UP)—The Communist Peiping radio hinted broadly today that a negotiated truce is possible in the long and bloody Indochina War.

The demand for peace from people throughout the world "forced the American aggressors to stop the war in Korea," the broadcast declared. "Their power can force the imperialists to abandon their arms in Vietnam."

The Chinese language broadcast heard here declared "the Vietnam people's just struggle to defend peace and win independence will be wholeheartedly supported by the peace-loving peoples of Asia."

Catholics Rap the Kinsey Report

ROME (UP)—Catholic Action of Italy today attacked the Kinsey report on the sexual behavior of American women.

"The Roman Catholic group in its press bulletin said Dr. Kinsey had obtained his information 'with the constancy and the stomachic worthiness of the most experienced reformatory confessor.'"

The Bulletin questioned the worth of Dr. Kinsey's statistics, and said the women interviewed "can be classified in that category of women who in all times and under all skies are well classified."

All Around the Town

By The Star Staff

Excerpts from the Ennis (Texas) Daily News:

"Some time ago First Baptist Pastor R. P. Campbell went to Hope, Ark., to conduct a revival for Garrett Memorial Baptist Church, pastored by the Rev. Elbert O'Steen. He noticed a billboard heralding to the world that it's the home of the world's largest watermelon (a 195-pounder, produced there one time.) He noticed, also, that a fruit stand had a stock, at the moment, of Texas watermelons. Well, that laid his friends there wide open to plenty of kidding."

"Yesterday, September 9, the Railway Express delivered to the preacher's home a 100-pound Arkansas-grown watermelon, a delicious delicacy which the Brotherhood of his church certainly will enjoy. The Men's Class of the Arkansas church had 'come back' at the Ennisite with a joke of its own. But says the Rev. Campbell: 'Anytime anybody wants to play a joke on him which involves delicious food, like that, then he'll all for it. Now he's willing to let Hope brag all it wants to!'"

Officers were called to the Irving Ground area last week to look into some alleged cattle rustling in the restricted area which is under lease . . . they discovered a resident of near Washington had entered the area with his wagon to haul out three wild hogs which he had killed . . . they reportedly were destroying his crops alongside the restricted area.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Murphy report that their son, Lt. Max Murphy, released in the recent prisoner exchange, is scheduled to land in San Francisco next Sunday . . . Mrs. Ched Hall and Mrs. C. C. McNeill have bought out the Sue and Lee Shop for Tots and are currently in Dallas buying new stock for a formal opening within a few days.

It's the same old story in Hempstead's two wildcat oil tests . . . one in the Olan area has been plugged and abandoned at 2,400 feet while the Gunter No. 1, near Washington, has been abandoned at 4,280 feet.

British Call for Talks About Trieste Problem

ROME (UP)—Britain called today for consultations with the United States and France on Italy's new plea for a plebiscite on explosive Trieste which Yugoslavia's President Tito already has rejected.

A British Foreign Office spokesman in London told a news conference recent statements by Tito and Italian Premier Giuseppe Pella created a "new situation" in the old feud over rival claims to the Trieste free territory. He said the three Western powers will have to consider this, together with Pella's proposal for a conference on the subject.

Even as Pella was making his proposal in Rome, Tito declared in the Adriatic Party city of Split:

"We are against a plebiscite now because of the policy of denationalization by Mussolini. First the injustices should be prepared. Then, after 10 or 15 years we could see the people could freely decide about its future."

The people weren't aware then that Italy would have the advantage in such a vote, since about 70 per cent of the territory's 380,002 people are Italian.

Pella proposed a free plebiscite of all people in the divided territory—part of which is occupied by Yugoslav troops and the other part including the port city of Trieste, by American and British troops—to determine whether the whole area should be handed over to Italy or Yugoslavia.

At the same time the flatly rejected Yugoslav President Tito's proposal a week ago to internationalize the port city of Trieste and give the territory, including the port, to Yugoslavia.

At present, the northern part of the territory, including the port, is occupied by British and American troops. Italy assists in its joint administration. The southern district—zone B—is occupied by Yugoslav troops.

Tito, speaking yesterday to a crowd of 150,000 in the Adriatic city of Split, warned the Italians they would "break their heads" against a stone wall of Yugoslav resistance if they attempted to seize Trieste by force.

Battery Firm Headquarters in Arkadelphia

C & W Sales Company, distributors of Span-O-Life batteries for Arkansas, have established headquarters in Arkadelphia, where permanent warehouse facilities have been secured. Several hundred batteries are to be stored in Arkadelphia in division to serve the southwestern division-dealers.

According to Charles P. Chisholm, president of the company, W. W. Watson, sales manager, will establish his office in Arkadelphia with definite plans to call on all motor companies, gas stations, auto dealers and any others who are interested in the dealership of this amazing type of battery.

"The unusual quality of this battery," says Mr. Chisholm, "is its ability to recharge while resting, to the extent that it will start your car even after it has completely run down. Another merit is the durability — the long-lasting life of the battery — which the manufacturer unconditionally guarantees for the life of your car under one ownership. We are asked by many."

continues Mr. Chisholm, "the superiority of the battery over the ordinary ones. I generally answer that I am not a chemist; but we are told by the manufacturer that into the Span-O-Life battery, is built the use of electrolyte, containing only a very small amount of sulphuric acid. The fluid contents and other mineral and chemical uses are trade secrets. But the combined ingredients practically eliminate internal heating, ordinarily caused by constant generation, thus lending to this battery its unusual long life.

"The unusual quality of this battery," says Mr. Chisholm, "is its ability to recharge while resting, to the extent that it will start your car even after it has completely run down. Another merit is the durability — the long-lasting life of the battery — which the manufacturer unconditionally guarantees for the life of your car under one ownership. We are asked by many."

Saturday by Circuit Judge Ernest Maner. The appraised value of the six property owners' and was $50,044.

Draft Board Seeks Whereabouts of Registrant

"Members of Selective Service Local Board No. 29, L. E. Aslin, Andy Andrews and Hinton A. Davis, are seeking information as to the present whereabouts or status of Johnnie Hendrix, a Negro registrant of the Local Board.

The last known address of Johnnie Hendrix is Box 58, Fulton, Arkansas.

The Local Board requests that any person who knows anything about this registrant, his present address, or any of his people, that such information be reported at once to Selective Service Local Board No. 29, City Hall, Hope, Arkansas."

Denmark Resigns UN Committee

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (UP)—Denmark resigned from the United Nations Committee on Non-Self-Governing Territories today, declaring that Greenland—her only colony—is now part of Danish state territory.

Chicago Police Round Up Girl Escort Ring

CHICAGO (UP)—Police charged today that an escort service advertising the company of "glamorous models" was really a multimillion-dollar vice ring that offered the favors of call girls at "astronomical prices."

The operator of the service, Kay Jarrett, 45, has been associated with several figures in the sensational Minot (Idaho) Jelle case in New York. She denied the pandering charges filed against her here.

Miss Jarrett was arrested Saturday night in a raid on her office, and fifteen of the "glamorous models" and three men were picked up later at various addresses.

Detective Russell Burton, who led the raid, said that lonely businessmen paid $25 to $500 a night for the company of the escort service, but that in some cases fees were "astronomical."

One girl arrested allegedly admitted pocketing earnings of $4,000 in a single week.

Actually, Burton said, the "models" were in many cases women who held down daytime jobs as secretaries or clerks. Two women listed their occupations as "housewife" and several used the title "Mrs."

The investigation began when Pearl White, 23, told police she had worked for the agency and described its alleged operations.

Burton said some of the women arrested told officers they were instructed to act like "ladies" with clients until the men made it clear what was wanted.

New York businessmen visiting Chicago supposedly made up the bulk of the escort service's business, police said.

Detectives were trying to learn whether Miss Jarrett also ran an escort service in Miami, Fla. She allegedly told them that she had considered opening a Mexico branch.

Warns Forest Fire Season Is at Hand

Talk about a leak in the keg of our Forest economy, how about this? According to circular 451 revised, Extension Service of University of Arkansas, forest fires cost Arkansas more than a million dollars annually. Of course, this would not begin to determine the number of fires in Arkansas last year, which was the most destructive year of them all, writes Buster A. Denton, Forester.

The question is: Who will stop the wasteful leak on our Forest Resources?

If we should receive word through the paper, radio, or grape vine that a Foreign agency was annually stealing a million dollars from Arkansas, we would all certainly be on guard to catch this demon on his next robbery trip to Arkansas. Yet, we know that this theft in the form of forest fires will visit us this year and the time is probably drawing near. So, we had better be on the look out.

The trouble is, many of us want to recognize this theft when we see him. He won't be in the form of a monster with horns, long teeth, and a forked tail etc. He may be driving down the road in an ordinary automobile and carelessly toss cigarette stubs in the grass. He could be some good, but careless citizen burning brush or grass, and he could be some house-mother burning paper socks and refuse from the kitchen. Sometimes he is in the form of hunters who are too anxious to get the bag limit of squirrels and fail to put out the ashes from their pipes or cigarettes or clean around their camp fires, or he could be some fellow working in the woods cutting logs or pulpwood who becomes careless with his cigarette burning yellow-jackets' nests.

Whoever he is, let's all be on our guard and remember the Keg wasn't just leaking last year, it was POURING. Let's do our individual part to stop this wasteful leak that is constantly draining on our forest wealth.

Quake Shakes Fiji Islands

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (UP)—The Fiji Islands were severely shaken by an earthquake today, reports from Suva, the capital, said.

Democrats Kill Proposal for Convention

CHICAGO (UP)—Democratic conference killed today a proposal for a 1954 party convention which had been bitterly opposed by most of its Southern members.

Rep. RAYBURN OF Texas, the House minority leader, announced that a conference committee unanimously had approved a resolution opposing the mid-term convention proposal and advocating continued regional conferences before next year's congressional elections.

The committee action came on a motion of Rep. Hale Boggs (D-La.) as party members worked in a series of discussion panels with former Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois filling from meeting to meeting.

Stevenson, the 1952 presidential nominee, quipped at a breakfast of state chairmen that he may not be a good official but he is an obedient one. He was demonstrating his obedience by eating breakfast with three different party groups and scheduling appearances at a series of luncheons, he said.

14 Persons Die Violently in Arkansas

UNDATED AIR FATALITIES BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

At least 14 persons died violently in Arkansas during the week ended at midnight last night.

Eight deaths occurred on the state's highways; there was one drowning; two persons were shot to death and two children suffocated in wagonloads of cotton.

The 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Burleson of England, Tommy Doyle Burleson, died Sunday after he fell into a load of cotton at his grandparents' home near England.

Coroner Fred Barry of Lonoke said death was caused either by suffocation or a heart attack resulting from partial suffocation.

The other child, 8-year-old Judy Hill, suffocated in a load of cotton on her parents' farm near Pura, Gould Friday.

Three highway fatalities and a drowning occurred Saturday night.

An Osceola automobile salesman was injured fatally west of Osceola when a new car he was driving collided with an oncoming automobile.

State Trooper E. F. Patton identified the dead man as Joe Gentry of Luxora, who died in a Memphis hospital. Driver of the other car, Nancy Snow Gillespie of Osceola, was injured seriously, Patton said.

"The trooper said Gentry was attempting to pass a car on highway 40 when the accident occurred."

A 15-year-old Clinton boy, Darrell Sikes, was killed in a head-on collision of two trucks a half a mile south of Clinton.

Sikes was a passenger in one of the trucks, driven by Virgil Turner of Clinton. State Police radio operator Phillip McNary said Turner lost control of the vehicle, which swerved into the path of the oncoming truck.

Sikes was thrown from the truck, McNary said Turner has been charged with negligent homicide.

An 82-year-old retired Negro Baptist minister was injured fatally when struck by a car near the city limits of Conway. He was Major C. Bailey, driver of the car was H. W. Thornton Jr., 23, of Conway, police said.

A 25-year-old Little Rock man drowned Saturday night when a fishing boat capsized in the Arkansas River about 10 miles west of Little Rock.

The body of Joseph L. Hinson was recovered yesterday after a 15 hour search.

Morocco Paper Undermines French

CAIRO, Egypt (UP)—The "undermining" of French interests in Tunisia, Morocco and Algeria was urged today by Al Misri, one of the Arab world's largest newspapers.

"It urged 'the slamming of all doors, in every Arab Oriental and Moslem country, against French culture, trade and other interests!'"

Mayoral Race in New York Party Battle

By JAMES DEVLIN
NEW YORK (AP)—A bitter fight between two wings of the Democratic party comes to a head in balloting tomorrow in New York City's mayoral primary.

Some of the scars inflicted in heated exchanges of the past few weeks give signs of remaining unhealed through the New York general election.

Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri, seeking the party nomination for another term, is backed by so-called conservative forces.

Among them is James A. Farley, the former Democratic national chairman who broke with President Franklin D. Roosevelt on the third term issue.

Opposing Impellitteri for the nomination is Manhattan Borough President Robert F. Wagner Jr., son of the late author of the Wagner Labor Relations Act, who is backed by the so-called New Deal wing.

Wagner is supported by the pro-New Deal Americans for Democratic Action and prominent New and Fair Dealers such as Sen. Herbert H. Lehman, Averell Harriman, former foreign aid chief, and Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr.

The outcome may determine whether the New Deal wing will retain control of the party in New York State and whether the conservative or New Deal element will dominate New York's big delegation to the next Democratic presidential convention.

Other major contenders for the mayoralty in the normally Democratic city are Harold Riegmann, former acting postmaster, the Republican nominee, and Hubert H. Hall, former Senate Finance Committee chairman, the Liberal designee.

Riegmann and Hall are unopposed in the primary and their strength will not be tested until the November election.

Harriman told a recent Wagner rally that tomorrow's primary went "beyond the city campaign—it is the fight for the party in the state and nation." Wagner said he agreed with this view.

So bitter have been the feelings that Wagner and Roosevelt have said they will not support Impellitteri in the election if he wins the nomination.

Roosevelt said everything the mayor has done represented either the Republican or the New Deal thinking.

Bernard Baruch, planner and adviser to presidents, has credited Impellitteri with having conducted an honest, decent and vigorous administration.

Impellitteri's opposition has blasted him as "token mayor." This is a reference to tokens used in subway cars since the fare was boosted from 10 cents to 15 under his regime and a charge that he is dominated by Republican Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's state administration.

Impellitteri has retorted that the state administration forced the fare boost.

He said the state demanded that a transit authority with power to increase the fare be appointed as a condition to the state granting authority to the city to adopt other revenue-producing measures.

Charges of underworld connections have flown freely in the campaign.

Robert B. Blukie, a West Manhattan Independent Democrat, a third contender for the Democratic nomination, has declared the underworld was supporting both Wagner and Impellitteri as "insurgents." The charge has been vehemently denied by both contenders.

A fourth entry in the Democratic primary is Municipal Court Justice John C. Sullivan.

Pennsylvania Has Corner on Beauties

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—Pennsylvania had a corner on the beauty market today, with lovelies from that state the winners of the 1954 Miss and Mrs. America crowns.

As Evelyn Margaret Ay launched a whirlwind tour today, her victory Saturday night over 41 other beauties in the Miss America pageant seemed like a dream.

It was the same for Mrs. Ene Snyder, chosen from among 32 other would-be beauties to wear the 1954 Mrs. America crown at Astor Park last night.

Miss Ay, who prefers to be called "Evvy," has a week of television appearances and wardrobe fitting in New York to go through before taking to the road.

The heart belongs to a naval officer trainee, and she sported a diamond engagement ring on the third finger of her left hand at her first press conference yesterday.

The 20-year-old pageant winner, who hails from the small town of Ephrata, Pa., is a university of Pennsylvania cadet. She got the ring a week ago from Carl Sempler of Verona, N. J., 22, an ex-football player now in a navy officer training school at Newport, R. I.

Friends, Fans Mourn Death of Lewis Stone

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Friends and fans today mourned the tragic passing of Lewis Stone, 73, the dignified veteran of stage and screen who collapsed and died Saturday night while chasing three teenage prowlers outside his Hollywood home.

Private funeral services will be conducted at the actor's home Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Hazel Stone, widow of the white-haired actor who portrayed "Judge Hardy" in the movies, said her husband was watching television when he heard prowlers outside. He collapsed on a sidewalk while chasing the boys and died of a heart attack without regaining consciousness.

Mrs. Stone said lawn furniture had been thrown into their swimming pool and that there had been trouble of this kind before. Police took three boys, one 13 and the others 15, into custody and looked them on suspicion of malicious mischief. Later they were released to custody of their parents, pending possible juvenile court action.

Stone had been in show business more than 50 years.

He was born in Worcester, Mass.

12 Killed in Portugal Blast

LISBON, Portugal (AP)—Twelve persons, including women and children, were killed today in an explosion at a fireworks factory in Villa Real, a town in northern Portugal about 50 miles northeast of Oporto in Trás-os-Montes Province.

Copper mining, once important in Cornwall, England, has dwindled in recent years.

Clerk Tells McCarthy She Was a Commie

NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) said today that a woman clerk in the United Nations secretariat had admitted to him that she was a communist for five years before World War II, and said she was willing to cooperate with his senate investigating committee.

McCarthy sat alone in executive session as his Senate Permanent Investigations subcommittee opened hearings into charges of communism among American employees of the U. N. and some foreign delegations. He said he had talked with the woman for only a few minutes and would recall her in executive session this afternoon. He did not name her.

McCarthy also questioned an American employed by the Polish delegation to the United Nations. The witness claimed constitutional privilege in refusing to answer questions about his alleged Communist affiliation McCarthy said.

He is Julius Reiss, formerly known as Joel Reiss, and he appeared under subpoena. McCarthy said he refused to say whether he had ever been a communist. He also refused to name the person who got him his job with the Polish delegation, McCarthy said, and refused to answer if that person was a "top communist functionary."

Light Showers in the Middle West

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Midwest warmed slightly today under a cloud cover moving eastward and bringing light showers.

Parts of upper Michigan, however, shivered again in freezing temperatures which chilled larger areas yesterday. It was 29 at Pontiac and 30 at Grand Marais early today.

By way of contrast, Russell, Kan., baked in 103 degrees.

Come in and see... value check... and test drive a Ford today!

No doubt about it...
Ford's the one fine car in the low-price field!

Feature after feature... part after part...
Ford is as fine as the finest... yet it's priced with the lowest.

No car ever built has won such enthusiastic and growing preference as the '53 Ford... and no wonder. For no other car with such a wealth of fine-car features costs so little as Ford.

Yes, Ford, with all its fine-car quality, is offered at a price that's easy to pay.

You can have a Ford with a V-8 engine—the same type of engine that powers America's most expensive cars—for hundreds less than many Six-cylinder cars. And a Ford powered with the high-compression Mileage Maker Six costs even less.

Then, too, Ford's body is built like the best, with steel body panels of the same quality and thickness as in the most expensive cars.

Ford also proves that a car doesn't need to carry gas-thirsty extra weight to "gentle" you over the bumpiest roads! For Ford's smooth, level ride blots out the bumps... cuts front end road shock alone up to 80%!

Also, you can have your Ford V-8 with Master-Guide, the last word in power steering. Ford

Master-Guide cuts up to 75% of turning effort yet it leaves you with the natural "feel" of steering on the straightaway.

There are many other fine-car features, too! Ford Full-Circle Visibility... foam-rubber cushioned seats front and rear on all models... finishes that are baked on over a complete rust-proofing treatment... to mention a few.

It takes all these features to make a fine car truly fine... worth more when you buy it... and in resale, too! A survey of used car lots proves that people are willing to pay a larger percentage of the original cost for year-old Fords than for any other cars. No doubt about it, Ford's your best buy!

Worth more when you buy it... worth more when you sell it!

Mother Evicted From Home

DETROIT (AP)—A constable ordered to evict a 60-year-old mother from her home today delayed the act, admitting he was "attracted by my neck out at my own discretion."

Maria Raskin, evicting constable, said he would give Mrs. Rose Lamerato, 60, the rest of the day to get her things, taking possession of $17,500 home in suburban Dearborn.

Mrs. Raskin lost her home when a son, William Lamberato, bought her trust.

Lamerato was charged with the $10,000 holdup of a supermarket in 1951. He had been arrested 20 times previously on various charges and convicted six times.

Mrs. Raskin posted her home recently so her son could be free on a $10,000 bond while awaiting trial. When Lamerato fled, the bond was forfeited and Louis Gordon, a bondsman, had to pay it.

Ten months later Lamerato was captured and sentenced to 10-20 years in Marquette state prison after pleading guilty.

Gordon obtained a court foreclosure order against Mrs. Raskin's home last December.

The eviction was scheduled for 9 a. m. today.

DOROTHY DIX

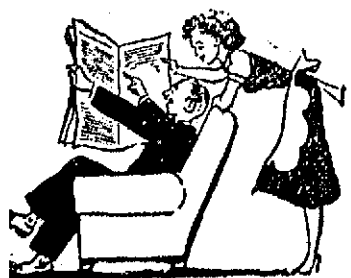

Maternal Interference

Dear Miss Dix: My mother is a wonderful woman who is happily married, with three grown children. So successful has she been in hearing her family that she is frequently asked for advice from relatives and friends. Now, she has become accustomed to handing out counsel whether it's requested or not.

This is my problem. My husband and I live in the same town with my parents, and I am the only one of the children so close to them. Our baby is the only grandchild in the family. Mother has formed a tendency to tell me how to take care of the baby, how to run the house, how to handle my husband, etc. I feel very resentful and am afraid if I continue, we'll run into serious trouble. As yet there has been no strife, no misunderstandings, in fact, outwardly our whole family relationship is fine. Inside, however, I am seething and feel that I'll break out any day. How can I avoid the trouble I fear?

SUE M.

A Desire To Be Helpful
Answer: You are apparently more concerned with adjusting your own temperament to accepting mother's advice, or at least listening to it, than you are with changing her. I think you have the right angle. Your mother's attitude does not seem to be one of officiousness, or intrusion, but rather of a sincere desire to help, born of her own outstanding success in maintaining a well-ordered home. There can be no doubt that at least some of her ideas could be adapted by you, and your resentment should or another baby or two follow the present cherub in short order? Don't you think that a loving family standing by would be welcome? Your own description of your mother belies her status as an interloper; try to accept her on a more friendly basis. Also suggest to her, that since she did such a fine job raising you to independence, you'd like a chance to exercise it. Ask her to withhold all advice for a week to see how you come through alone, then make it a month, and so on.

Dear Miss Dix: After being a widower for several years, I am considering remarriage to a lady named Florence. She has been married three times, and the only fault I have to find with her is that she likes to go out a lot. I have no objection to going out occasionally, but I do like to stay home most of the time. Can I break her of the habit?

Answer: Since three husbands before you have failed, and failed to make a home-loving wife of Florence, your chances of success certainly don't look very bright. You'd be a foolish man, indeed, to marry a woman with her inclinations.

Dear Miss Dix: In 1926 I married a widower with six children. At the time I was 28, and I did my best to be a good stepmother to the family. The children soon came to love me as their own mother, and our family life was very happy. Then, two years ago, I discovered my husband had been having an affair with another woman for several years. He refuses to give her up, though he doesn't want me to leave him, and his children have all turned against him.

Answer: You must have been a very good mother to the children for them to champion you against their father in this crisis. Their devotion should do a good deal to sustain you through the emotional stress of your husband's infidelity. There is very little chance that he'll break with the other woman after all these years. Obviously, the reason he wants you to stay is to provide a home for him, which apparently the other lady is not willing to do. Take a vacation for a while, and let him see how well he does without you to enter to his creature comforts.

Westland Will Try to Hold Title

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Rep. Jack Westland, who holds the distinction of being the oldest golfer ever to win the U. S. Amateur championship and the only member of Congress ever to hold the title, doubt that he ever will try to win it again after this year.

Westland, who was 47 when he won the championship in his home state at Seattle last year, will defend his title this week over the Oklahoma City Golf and Country Club course. He figures he had about a 100 to 1 chance of repeating and it might be 100-1 in a field of 200 except "there are a few fellows out there I think I can beat."

But as for repeated effort: "I doubt that I'll ever play in another national championship after this year," he said today. "Next year when I play at Detroit I'll be in the middle of a campaign for reelection."

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN

McKee gave his entire attention to Libby and Kit listened engrossed. Where they had got very little, the inspector succeeded in building a fairly complete picture. Libby answered him fully, searching her mind as he led her on step by step. Odora? Libby said yes that there had been a queer smell in the room in which she was confined. "Something like what you got in a Fifth Ave. box sometimes." Boudie? There had been a dog that barked a lot, and a rooster that crowed, McKee said that she had been in a house in the country, heated by kerosene, and in close proximity to a chicken house.

He asked her about the tissue with the print of her lips on it, and she nodded. They had done that while she was blindfolded after they had stuck a needle in her. There was a lipstick in her bag. "Fingerprints, inspector?" McKee said there wouldn't be any of it. She had no recollection about the car in which she had been taken away, she didn't think the seats were leather, but wasn't sure.

The Scotsman studied her thoughtfully. She had been home and safe for a day and a half; she had had a bad fright within the hour—her pulse was rapid and her breathing shallow. "Now since you got back, Miss Talley?"

Libby had gone as far as she intended to go. Her mouth was stony. She was in one of her obstinate fits. Kit intervened. "You've got to, Libby, or I will."

They both did. McKee digested the whispering voice that had called the house after Libby had finished talking to Tony Wilder, and that she had instantly recognized. "When you picked up the receiver who did the man ask for?"

"Nobody. He knew no right away. He told me not to talk to the police, not to tell them anything, or else."

She was white again. "He just—just threatened me. He said I'd be sorry if I had anything to do with the police."

The Scotsman rose, said good-by soothingly, and that she was not to worry, that she was perfectly safe and nothing more was going to happen, and left her room.

Kit went with him. At the foot of the stairs he asked her a question. "Who was here in the house, Miss Haven, when the arrangement for the delivery of the money was made?"

Kit said: "My uncle and I, and my aunt, Mrs. VanKreef." She added wretchedly: "I know. I know. I thought about the extension in the upper hall, too, at the time, but my aunt was in the middle of a shower. I ran up and looked."

Miriam VanKreef was in the living room. She was frostily gracious; she was afraid she could tell him nothing he didn't already know. Her brother-in-law hadn't seen fit to take her into his confidence.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

very effective plugging against range office commands.

A good gadget to accomplish these ends is a device called an Ear-Valve. There's a flanged soft rubber fitting which fits into your ear on a trachea. Sounds of ordinary intensity, like the yakkety-yak of the guy next to you who has just yanked off a lead shot, come through almost normally; but the heavy battering waves of gun sound or industrial noise are chewed up in the valve gadget until their ear-damaging punch is gone.

Just because you like to shoot doesn't mean you'll inevitably end up scared for sound, with batteries in your pants pocket. Individual sensitivity to gun racket is a very variable matter, but if you do get headaches, or jump at your trigger, or anticipate recoil by flinching, ear protection of one sort or another is a downright necessity for you, fellow shooter.

Barons Kick Chicks Out of Playoff

By The Associated Press

Birmingham's rejuvenated Barons—fourth-place club in the Southern Association this season—have disposed of the pennant-winning Memphis Chicks in the battle for the playoffs crown.

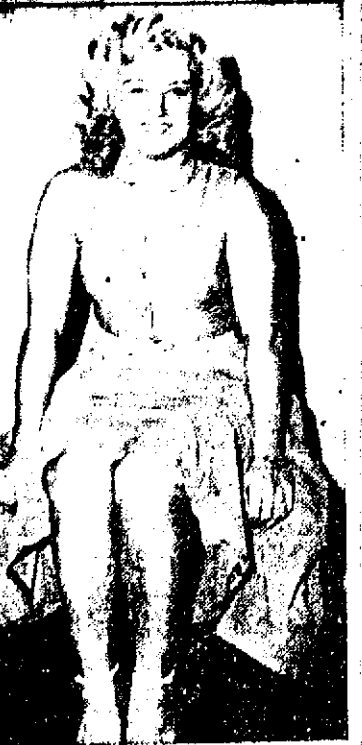

The Barons humbled Memphis, 10-5 yesterday to run through the semi-finals series in five games. Nashville stumped Atlanta 6-4 to take a 3-2 lead in their best of seven affair.

Tonight's game will be played in Nashville. If the Vols win, it will be a Birmingham-Nashville scrap for the championship.

Birmingham slugged five Memphis pitchers for 18 hits. The Chicks committed five errors.

Bill Virdon of Birmingham and Floyd Fogg of Memphis led the hit parade. Virdon smashed two homers and a single. Fogg hit a pair of homers.

Jack Harshman, 23-game winner during the regular season for Nashville, cooled Atlanta on 10 hits.

U.S. Davis Cup Group Routs Canada

MONTREAL, P. — The United States Davis Cup forces routed Canada as expected in the American zone final over the weekend but came away with a king-sized problem on their hands.

Tony Trabert and Vic Seixas perhaps the two top amateurs in the world at the moment form a doubles combination with a fair chance of winning a point from the Australians next December.

Based on their performance against the Canadians, the answer seems to be "No."

Canada's Lorne Main and Paul Willey, beaten by the American tandem in Saturday's storm-swept doubles, both said they felt the U. S. would have to concede the doubles to the Aussies.

CHILDREN AND DOGS

What makes the cutest picture? The most attention-arresting advertisement? The most interesting parade?

Well, experts in the fields of photography, publishing and advertising tell us that there is nothing that rates as high as a child and a dog. And outdoor display people say that a youngster and his pet on a billboard will attract more attention than even the most scintillating bathing beauty.

Child stars and dog stars are great drawing cards in the movies in spite of the limitations they place on the scripts. And who is there that doesn't know the famous "Butch" covers by Albert Staehle that used to appear on the Saturday Evening Post covers and now reach an even greater number of people on the American Weekly?

Little Orphan Annie rose to fame with her dog, and every gallery has its quota of child and dog works of art.

For 20 years tremendous crowds have gathered for the pet parades put on in all parts of the country under the joint sponsorship of the producers of Pard dog food and local stores. Neighborhood youngsters spruce up their pets and come in droves to join the parade and compete for prizes which are given for such accomplishments as being the smallest pet, the cutest pet, the most unusual pet, or the most comically dressed pet. And adults come in droves to watch. When the fabulous "Webb City" the St. Petersburg, Fla., drug store that sells everything from jewelry to real estate, was on a pet parade, there were 1,500 entries and thousands of spectators lined the streets.

Why? Because children and dogs are an irresistible combination.

Churchwell and Wiggins Back in Cat Lineup

Coach Lawrence Martin will send his Bobcats through some rugged workouts this week and it's likely to be mainly on offense. The locals journey to DeQueen Friday night for a game with the Leonards who were idle.

Mr. Martin said this morning that Raymond Churchwell and Ralph Wiggins had already recovered from injuries which forced them to the sidelines early in last week's 12 to 12 tie with Stamps.

And there is no doubt in the minds of fans that loss of Churchwell in the second quarter cost the Bobcats the ball game. In fact the Bobcats were on their way when the fleet running, passer and kicker got hurt.

DeQueen will open their season with the Bobcats next Friday night and a good many members of the team were in the stands when Hope and Stamps tangled.

The entire Bobcat roster and weights:

Tackles: James Cornelius 210; LeRoy Cooley 204; Gilbert Honeycutt 176; Benjie Owen 192; Bennie Johnson 168; Don Hall 160; Jerry Crawford 155; Johnny Camp 149; W. C. Bruner 165.

Guards: Niles Hipp 153; Ralph Wiggins 160; Dickie Lauterbach 152; Barney Treese 154; Rufus Herndon 135; Autrey Hatfield 145; Charles Chambliss 145; Jimmy Centers: Joe Don Willis 170; Chris Fletcher 125; Charles Petre 100; Pedro 160; Jack Keck 145; Johnny Webb 140 and Travis Purdie 125.

Backs: Paul Huddeleston 136; Sonny Griffin 162; Bruce Duke 150; Raymond Churchwell 160; Wayne Johnson 135; Billy Blake 142; Roy Mullins 120; Charles Atkinson 135; Frankie Williams 130; Steve Marlar 150; John Whitlow 125; Charles Downs 140; Billy Johnson 110; Frank McDowell 140; Bill Wray 112; Don Roberts 135.

Card Tickets to Korean Veterans

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Korean veterans who were Communist prisoners of war can have St. Louis Cardinals passes for the rest of 1953 and all of 1954 just for the asking. August A. Busen, Jr., president of the all club said today.

Passes for the rest of this year's home games are available now. Passes for next year will be available in the spring. Busch asked that the repatriated prisoners give their name, address, serial number and military unit in which they served when writing.

RED CHECKER

—Sen. John M. Butler (R., Md.), heads a Senate subcommittee which will open hearings about Nov. 1 in an investigation of Communist penetration of labor unions. The committee will check violations of existing laws and determine whether there is any need for further legislation to eliminate the Communist influence in labor organizations.

CHAPTER NINETEEN

Outside Eleanor Oaks door on the 16th floor and about to put his finger on the bell, McKee didn't press it. There was a row going on inside the apartment. Voices were raised, a man's and a woman's, or rather the woman's was; you could just barely hear the man. Suddenly a chair went over and there was a chin stream. Then McKee did ring the bell.

Silence, more of the same, footsteps, the door was opened by a tall woman in a dinner gown, handsome in a hard way. She held a handkerchief to her face.

The woman was Eleanor Oaks. The handkerchief was to conceal the mark of a blow on the right lower jaw, which had been given to her by Pedrick and which presently revealed itself.

Not that he said so, and the chair in the living-room had been replaced on its legs.

"Sweetie, this man insists on coming in."

"It's all right, Ducks. Good-evening, inspector. To what do we owe the honor?"

Pedrick wore a dinner jacket and black tie. Everything about him was just a little too sharp.

"Sit down, inspector. Have a drink."

McKee sat down and didn't have a drink. Pedrick asked what he could do for him.

"You can answer some questions, if you care to?"

"Why shouldn't I—unless it's about my income tax. Shoot."

"Where were you the day before yesterday from 3 p. m. until 9 p. m.?"

The ransom money had been collected from Catherine Haven at approximately 5:40.

"That would be Monday. I was right here in this apartment. I had a touch of flu and Miss Oaks kindly insisted on calling her doctor."

He saw me at around—must have been close to half past 5. You were fixing a drink, weren't you, dear, when the medico arrived?"

"Yes, Sweetie. I thought a hot whiskey would do you good—and I was right." The doctor's name was Jarvis, and he was in the building if McKee wanted to check.

"Thanks. Tell me what you know about a man named Tony Wilder."

Pedrick was prepared for the question. Not a muscle of his cadaverously carved face moved. Eleanor Oaks showed nervousness. The handkerchief which she had removed, was again pressed to her swelling jaw. McKee decided that the precious bait had been quarrelling. Pedrick said in accents of surprise, "Tony Wilder? Not much. I meet him around, just a bowing acquaintance."

"You Miss Oaks?" Eyes downcast, Eleanor Oaks said with studied indifference: "About the same."

same as Sam. I run into Tony Wilder now and again, at a party—that's about all."

You don't, McKee reflected, run into him as often as you'd like to, as you would if it weren't for your boy friend here. Aloud he said, "How very kind of you are, Miss Oaks, to loan your car to a casual acquaintance. Did you loan your car to Tony Wilder last Wednesday night?"

That was the night a yellow convertible had been seen parked near the Haven house in Denfield. In Denfield house in Denfield. McKee certainly did not, Sam and I were using it."

She gave a vague story of its having been seen such a wonderful night and driving around Westchester, after a late show. McKee didn't press her too hard. He wanted to get to the most important night of all, the night Libby Talley had been taken.

"Monday night a week ago, inspector? You do skip about," Pedrick said that one night he was over in Jersey. He had driven over in the convertible, "to see a man."

"Name? Address?"

Pedrick smiled. "Sorry, but I haven't the faintest idea. This is the way it was." He said that he had gone to Newark to pick up a man named Tribbling outside the Mayflower cafe on Main St. Tribbling had friends in Morristown who might be interested in a company for whom Pedrick was doing some work—but Tribbling hadn't turned up. Pedrick said: "I hung around for a while and then came back to New York at—oh, well, before 10. It does sound rather thin, doesn't it, inspector? Tell you what though, I got a ticket from the highway patrol just outside Newark at around 8:40. I was late and I was stepping on it. Will that help any?"

McKee stood. Pedrick might be lying about the business in Newark; he was telling the truth about having been there. The ticket was a matter of record—and if Pedrick was on the other side of the Holland tunnel at 8:40 on Monday night he couldn't have been in Denfield blindfolding Libby Talley and hustling her into a car and he was not the whispering voice McKee had heard.

And yet, leaving the apartment, and driving to the Hotel Bronson, McKee reflected that although Libby Talley's name had never once been mentioned, Pedrick knew all about Libby Talley and what had happened to her. How had he got his information, from whom?

Tony Wilder wasn't at the Bronson. He had checked out an hour and a half earlier for parts unknown. McKee drove across town to the office, sent Delavits over to the Bronson to check back minutes on Wilder's whereabouts during the last week, rang his buzzer and asked for Brown, Trumbull, R.P.P.

per and Small. The four detectives came in. McKee said: "I want those suicides we worked on last year reopened. Go after it hard. See if you can get any one of these names to any one of those girls." In order the names on it were: George Corey, William Grant, Anthony Wilder, Samuel E. Pedrick and Hugo Cavanaugh.

In the Denfield house, Kit came widely awake at 20 minutes to 4 that morning. She was too exhausted for sound sleep and had been dozing fitfully. She sat up in bed and switched on her light with a look at the clock. Some sixth sense, or perhaps only her hearing, told her that there was something wrong. She had heard some sound. Whatever it was, she said, she didn't know. She was alone. Lucy Barrett was sleeping in one of the guest rooms.

Kit snatched a dressing gown thrown over a chair. A button caught and the chair crashed to the floor, taking a small table and a lamp with it. Now the whole house would be roused. It didn't matter if only Libby was safe. She flew down the hall to Libby's door. Libby had heard the crash the chair had made. Her covers were flung back and she was just getting out of bed. She was frightened. "Kit, what was that noise?" Kit said: "Nothing." I did it. I knocked over a chair." She looked around the room. Everything was in order.

The others came crowding then, Miriam, Lucy Barrett and William. William had come up on the last train, overjoyed about Libby and carrying a large bouquet of gladioli. Kit explained that something had frightened her and that she had come to see if Libby was all right.

Someone was banging on the front door. William in pink and white pyjamas started for the stairs. It was the state trooper knocking. He had seen lights spring up. The two men searched the house from top to bottom and found no one, and nothing disturbing. The front door was locked and the lower windows except the little one on the left of the hall fire escape.

Wrapped in ice-blue satin, Miriam was coldly annoyed, perhaps because her hair was in curlers and her face covered with a mask of cream. "You ought to be a little more careful, Catherine particularly of Libby. She's had enough to bear without being roused in the middle of the night. What an alarmist you are—I believe you revel in sensation." They went back to bed. But Kit had heard something that morning before dawn and she discovered what it was at almost noon that day.

"Sparkled" Champagne

Don Perignon, a Benedictine monk, was the man who put the sparkle into champagne. Frenchmen still salute the good monk's statue in the city of Rheims.

WALKING BICYCLE—This odd-looking, wooden-wheeled forerunner of the bicycle was invented by a German noble in 1816. Because they were used by wealthy people, the bike acquired the name "Dandy Horse." The rider sat on a leather padded saddle while walking. Mark Hooton, dressed in 19th century garb, demonstrates the antique which is on display at the Henry Ford Museum in Dearborn, Mich.

The National Geographic Society estimates there are 370 million camels in the world.
